Jarvis has started work on a £1m state-of-the-art classroom block at Immanuel College in Bushey, Herts. The innovative interior features folding screens that can be moved to reconfigure the space inside. This gives the potential to use it as eight classrooms, or smaller / larger teaching areas and an examination hall. Building commenced on 23 February 2010 with a traditional ground-breaking ceremony. It is expected that the project will be completed by September 2010.

Chair of Governors Dr Sara Levene said: "This new block will benefit pupils now and in the years to come".
